Singing From The Roof Top

“Build It and They Will Come” was a great line in the Hollywood movie Field of Dreams, but we all know that things don’t always turn out that way. I must say though, if it is God who is leading you, it will come to pass in His time and on His terms. I recently heard the words, “I want to Thank you Pastor Lee for building this for us.” from Pastor Salvador Olvera. It’s nice hearing words of appreciation and affirmation because it didn’t start out that way.

It is not easy when you hear from God and RISK by faith to do what you believe He wants you to do even though others can’t see it or understand it. I’ve had a number of questioning friends scratch their heads wondering why I was building a third floor open air pavilion for leadership gatherings and events. My critics would say; where are all these pastors and leaders going to come from? Even my wife who is my biggest supporter asked me on many occasions to please not continue due to the financial strain and the constant pounding of construction ringing in her ears from the roof above her head . I would respond, “Honey I know this is what I’m supposed to do. I see it, I know it, and God wants me to do it.”

I would go up on the roof after a long day of work and pray under the canopy of stars until midnight. I would see pastors and leaders coming to our roof top from all around the Republic of Mexico for fellowship, training and spiritual renewal. I would encourage my wife with these words, “God won’t let me stop.”

Today we are living the dream. We have built it, and now we have Vida Internacional Pastors from across Mexico and they are coming to our center in Mezcales. When they do, we have lots of fun together. Our Pastors and leaders are refreshed and recharged as they look out across the flickering lights of the beautiful Bhaia de Banderas. We have cook outs and feasts, fellowship and pray, and encourage one another.

Most of all, we enjoy sacred moments of Worship. Our voices can be heard for miles as we sing from the roof top lifting our hearts and hands in adoration to our King Jesus! Thank you for allowing me to obey His voice. Together we are co-laboring with Him as He is actively building..Your Kingdom Come Lord Jesus.

Together we are Vida (Life) Internacional,
