August 1993

Dear Friends,

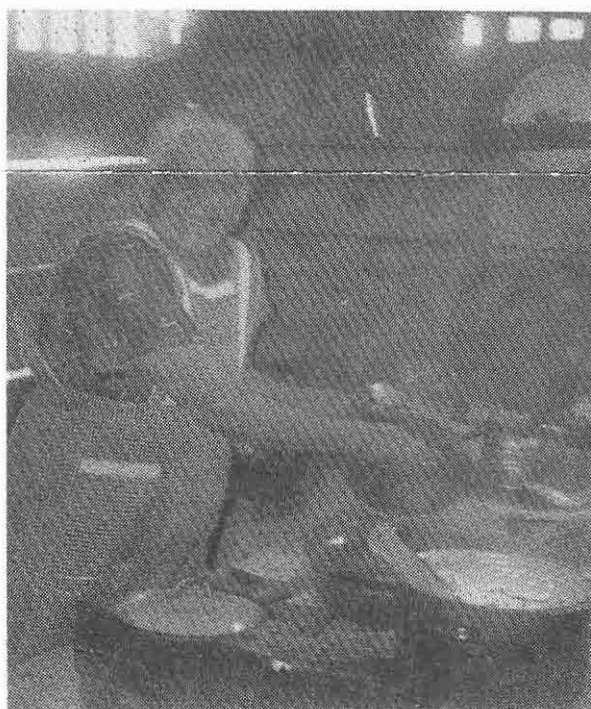

Tino, Ramon and I set out to go and encourage the Video Bible School in El Humo. We wrapped though the mountains of Querretero which turned us every which way but loose. We drove for hours through cow pastures and down muddy paths that seemed to lead to nowhere. I questioned our guide on several occasions doubting if we would ever see the facsimile of civilization in the direction in which we were headed.

As it began to get pitch black, we entered the little town of El Puerto and from there we once again left the road and drove through more cow pastures until we arrived at the primitive dwelling of a dear saintly woman in her upper seventies. She fed us a very humble meal which we ate in the dark by the flickering of candle light.

After the meal, she called together her family and neighbors to have a church service in her home. We worshipped and prayed and then, I encouraged them with the Word of God to hold on to their dreams and the promises which the Lord had at one time placed in their hearts. At the closing, one lady received Jesus as her Savior.

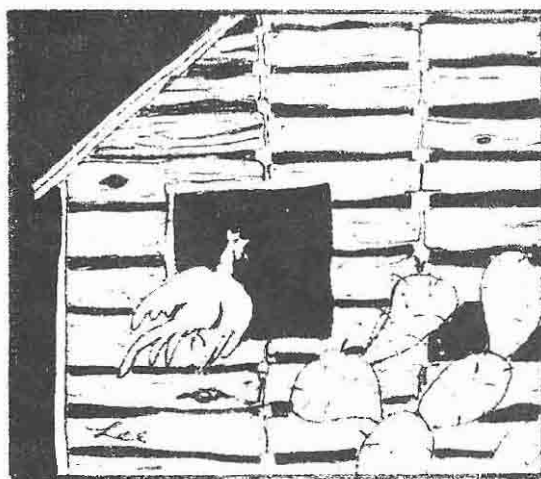

As we settled in for the night, we slept in what appeared to be a narrow chicken coop which had one double mattress and a single bed made of a couple of boards covered by a blanket. There were three of us, and two beds. I pleaded with Tino and Ramon to let me sleep on the boards.

In the morning we arrived at the little

The saintly woman who fed us.

SHORT STUFF

BOARD & BREAKFAST?

Lee & Carol Short

town of El Humo where our Video Bible School is located. We then slipped and slid down a muddy mountain path, packing our equipment and luggage. To make a long story short, we ministered as a team at the Video Bible School and saw the Hand of God move in that place. We went from village to village in the surrounding areas, breaking bread and holding house services.

As we were leaving the area, we stopped at a crossroad where I was overcome by the natural beauty in that place. Giant grey rocks were protruding like monuments from the side of huge mountain pastures. We stopped to take pictures and bought sodas at a little store. We witnessed to the store keeper, and he prayed with us to receive the Savior. We left there high as kites carrying our cokes and knowing that he "Got the real thing baby, uh huh!!!!!!!!!!".
