Dear Friends,

The dream is coming to pass as I journey deeper into Latin America, taking our video training tapes yet into another country. 30,000 feet over the Gulf of Mexico, on my way to Quito, Ecuador, I had the privilege of sharing Jesus with an Ecuadorean couple, a university professor and his companion.

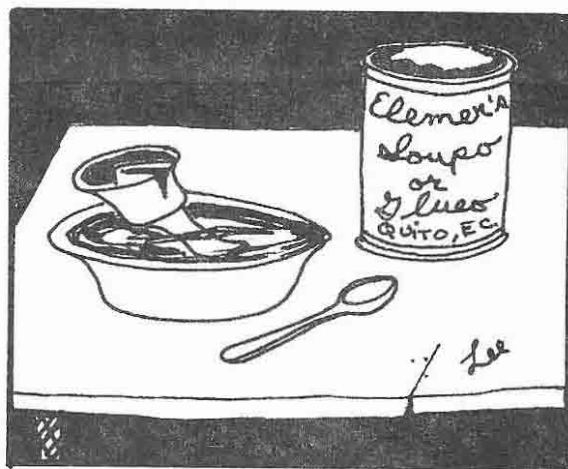

My first day in the city of Quito, missionary Steve Cobb introduced me to some of the leadership at Verbo Church. After lunch there was a time of sharing & ministry one to another. I prayed for a dear man by the name of Sergio. As I was praying, I felt an anointing come over me, and I hugged the man. The Holy Spirit came on him, he started to shake his arm and move his shoulder. His chest began to vibrate. He immediately walked over to his pastor with tears in his eyes and told him that the Lord just healed his shoulder. For years Sergio suffered from chronic shoulder pain, but Jesus healed him!

That evening, I went to bed desiring to see more fruit from our ministry. I want to see literally thousands of people's lives touched and transformed. I woke up at 3:00 in the morning, read my Bible and prayed. I went back to sleep and it seemed as if I had two angelic visitations, one after the other. Each time the room was filled with light and peace. It was like two waves of empowerment, encouraging me. As I sensed

SHORT STUFF

ELEMEX'S COW HOOF SOUP IS MMM, MMM.... GOOD!!! IT REALLY STICK'S WITH YOU.

Lee & Carol Short

a Holy presence, I heard in my spirit, "Keep on doing what you are called to do, there will be a great harvest coming."

COW HOOF SOUP

The Bible says, " A laborer is worthy of his hire." Can you imagine after preaching two morning services & seeing God move, the missionary gets taken out to lunch. What's for lunch? Cow Hoof Soup! You know, the stuff Elmer's glue is made from. Actually, the soup wasn't that bad, but it did leave a strange aftertaste, & my tongue was sticking to the roof of my mouth.

PRAYER REQUESTS

1. Pray for a smooth transition as we move to Pensacola
2. Pray for a rapid setup for the studio along with volunteers & workers
3. Pray for the students that are studying the video Bible course now.

Your prayers and support keep this ministry moving. Bless You!!!

In His Service,
