Dear Friends,

What's more thrilling than dodging bullets, or even leading a sinner to Christ? It's the privilege of leading five souls to the throne of grace! We sat around the kitchen table in a small apartment and I began to share the scriptures. We talked for five hours about life, death, and salvation. Francisco, with whom I have been building a friendship over the last few months, along with his wife, mother, aunt and a friend of the family prayed to embrace eternal life.

The Holy Spirit has been wooing this family for years, but it was the first time in their lives that they had heard the simple Gospel Truth. They were so anxious to receive Christ that one of them asked me, "Can we pray now to become saved?" As we were sharing spiritual experiences that prepared this family to make a profession of faith, the atmosphere seemed to be electrically charged.

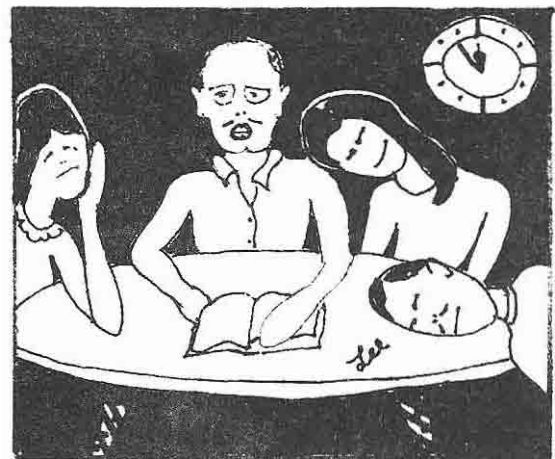

Francisco's mother told me that on two different occasions her heart stopped and she had had after-life experiences. On both occasions Jesus Christ rejected her. On one occasion as she slipped away during a bout with typhoid, she traveled through a dark tunnel. Upon arriving at paradise she saw God the Father and the Son. As she approached them, Jesus directed her away from them and sent her into a dark cloud which flashed with thunder and lightning.

I turned to Señora Salines and asked her, "The next time you pass through the valley of the shadow of death would you like Christ to receive you as one of his own?" Shortly thereafter we prayed the sinner's prayer. This lady was a devout Catholic, attended Bible studies and was a good person by the world's standards and yet knew she was lost and in need of the Savior.
