Breakfast burritos...

The “Bread of Life” kid’s club at the municipal dump is reaching out to children living on the edge. At a recent Saturday meeting we started off with a hot breakfast of egg & sausage burritos, a multi-vitamin and vitamin enriched flavored milk. The children played their organized games and had their Bible lessons all in their age appropriate groups. They sang their kid songs. You know the ones, where they move their hands and legs, turn their heads from side to side, jump and shout while they wiggle and giggle as they worship the Lord.

Then, finally the big moment came when we had an award presentation for five of our kids. They memorized eight Bible verses and we wanted to recognize and reward their effort. The two boys each received an action figure and the girls each received a lovely doll. Then I interviewed each one of them and popped the BIG question, “What do you want to do with you’re life?” Their answers were amazing and at times I had to wipe back a tear or two.

Valentin age eleven responded: “I want to get a job and work really hard. I want to marry a Christian woman. I want to live a Christian life and teach my children about Christ.” His sister Vanesa age nine said, “I want to travel and preach the word of God. I want to teach and help others who are sick to get medicine. I want to continue to follow Christ.” Antonio, age ten’s response: “I want to study and become a policeman. I want to be a policeman so there will be justice and put the thieves in jail. I want to help everyone.” Alondra age eleven answered, “I want to teach children right here in this church. I want to be a Christian all my life.” Last but not least, Fernanda, age nine had to say, “I want to talk to people about God. I want to pray for everyone. I want to sing and worship him." Sponsorship makes this possible.

Like the children at the dump, two thousand years ago a child was born to a family of humble means. That child's life changed the world for all of eternity. Imagine for a moment, if you and I could make the difference in the life of a child and help to set their life on a course to do good; Would you? Sponsor a child and make a difference in the life of a little one. Act today and sponsor a child.

Together We Make a Difference,

Ju & Carol

Rewards for their memorization

Carol and I want thank Wayne Keele for designing a database for our ministry so that we can better minister to these children. Thanks Wayne
