

These two families prayed with Lee to receive Christ

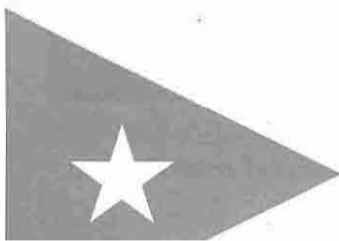

"He (Jesus) commanded us to preach to the people and to testify that he is the one whom God appointed as judge of the living and the dead."

Acts 10:42 (NIV)

In the remote country sided of Cuba, at the far west end of the island, we stopped our vehicle in a farming community of Cuban peasants. They were obviously not accustomed to foreigners. Intrigued by my presence, two ladies and their children came out onto their front porches to take a closer look. I can imagine how strange I must have appeared to them, like an alien from outer space. They were not used to seeing someone wearing eye glasses, carrying a camera, with a fanny pack strapped around his waist.

I told them that I had something to tell them. They listened intensely to the strange looking man with the funny Spanish accent. I shared with these poor people the priceless gift of eternal life. We consummated our time together holding hands in a circle and inviting Jesus Christ into their hearts. It stirs my soul to think that in that day, when we will stand before the "...judge of the living and the dead" they will be found in Him.

The Cuban country side is like stepping back 100 years with windmills pumping water and horse & ox drawn carts. Bicycles are used as the principle mode of transportation.

(Photo left) I led this man to Christ. He was filled with joy as we prayed together. Pointing to a tiny thatched roof house way up on the hillside he said, "When you come back to Cuba, this is your home."

(Photo right) God has allowed me to pray with literally dozens of taxi drivers to receive Christ, and this one was really special to me. As I sat in the front seat with the elderly cabbie, I saw a business card with the name of my grandfather who died before I was born. I asked, "Who is Gustavo Mesa?" The taxi driver affirmed that it was he. I shared with him the Lord Jesus. We prayed together, inviting Christ into his heart. Gustavo wept.
