There is now a new light shining bright in the darkness. It all began with a conversation I had with a retired educator who is part of our leadership team in CardboardLandia. I challenged him to study hermeneutics which is a fancy word for sound Bible study methods of interpreting and applying scripture. Professor Theodor took me up on my challenge and the Holy Spirit ignited a fire in him which is now burning in his soul. The professor is now out and about teaching the scripture in the streets 4 times a week.

It was on a Thursday night, I jumped in my truck and drove down the muddy road from my home climbing up through the underbrush leading to a very dark vacant lot on the top of the hill. Children began to come out of the woodwork and hug my knees saying "It's Pastor Lee!". The professor and his teenage daughter Coral were setting up their projector from which they led worship with downloaded videos from "YouTube". He had put together an excellent Power Point teaching on the Christian Family.

The lot began to fill up with about 25 souls in attendance, worshipping their creator under a canopy of stars, some with tears in their eyes. The children had a brief Bible lesson in cartoons projected on a rough brick wall and they remained somewhat attentive during the adult bible study. The surroundings were very humble, people were sitting on whatever they could find from a few broken chairs or on cinder blocks. Still others were leaning on a street vendors cart in the blackness of night which was contrasted to the brightness of young believer's new faith in Jesus Christ. We were a church without walls, a light shining in the darkness. I want to thank those who are supporting this work with your prayers and financial offerings.

Together we are light in the darkness,
