I am Mexican. I am a child of God. I want to be a singer, a business woman, a soccer player, a cook... Ricardo, Gemina, Yara; each of the children made a personal poster and penned in English a declaration of who they are and who they wanted to be. They also drew their dreams with color markers. It was exhilarating to see how skillfully they crafted a detailed rendition of who they hope to become. They adorned their work with glitter and glue. Our goal was to help the children to develop a positive vision of their future.

The school year was wrapping up, the children were getting into the 'school will be out for summer mode'. It has been hot, and most of the children and their families do not sleep well. Homes are like ovens; the sun beats down and bakes their block walls and asbestos roofs during the day and at night they radiate heat. Some families are sleeping outside while others are sleeping on the floor in their living room, just trying to find some relief.

So, how do you spell relief? FIESTA! It was time to celebrate another school year coming to a close. We played games in English. We played 'CANDY' (kid's version of Bingo) placing beans on cards while practicing their numbers and letters. Our director of education Dr. Jennifer Hudson knows how to make shy children speak English. With an ice cream scoop in her hand, she made them make their request known: "strawberry, vanilla or chocolate". Her husband Ed grilled up hamburgers and hot dogs. Lee went from table to table, laughing and talking with each child and practicing our special hand slap greeting. That day we finished our last bottle of vitamins with only 4 left. We formed our prayer circle and talked about God's love and care for each of them; Lee led us all in a prayer and thanked God for each and every one. Thank you for partnering with us and making this possible.

Together We are LifeSavers!
