United to celebrate life in the face of defeat, a proactive, pro-life march was held in downtown Puerto Vallarta. The march was held 12 days before the one year anniversary of legalized abortion in the Federal District of Mexico (The capital city of Mexico).

Pro Vida, the Mexican National Pro Life committee states that 6,400 abortions have been performed in Mexico's Capital city since it's legalization on April 24th, 2007. Eight mothers have died including a 15 year old girl. Twenty two women have been seriously injured due to the effects of having a legalized abortion.

Dr. Jorge Carpizo, a legal expert in Mexico who is defending legalized abortion, claims that unborn babies are 99% identical to baby chimpanzees. This shocking statement was made by Mexico's former Attorney General and former head of Mexico's human rights commission. His hypothesis will be expounded upon in his new book soon to be released called "Human Rights: Abortion and Euthanasia."

The participants in the Pro life rally were asked to dress in white, representing the sanctity of life. This Mexican grass roots March's purpose was stated as following: "to wake up the social conscience, to support human life in all it's expressions, and be a voice for those who have none. " For this cause we were united that day; Catholic and Evangelical, the privileged & the poor, student & business owner, And, Oh Yes... even a gringo!

Together we were seen and heard speaking out; all classes, all faiths; all in favor of life. Thank you for your continued support that enables us to do the work here in Mexico

Together We are Life Savers,

Lee & Carol
