God made me a promise back in 2006 that if I would return to Mexico and serve, He would do a work that would make an impact across the nation of Mexico. He showed me a coalition, a fleet of fishing boats being launched out into the fog, then He spoke to me and made the promise. I have questioned Him and have even felt that He was playing games with me as I sowed in tears, heartbreak and sacrifice. But now I am hopeful and I am beginning to catch glimpses of a promise unfolding and the pieces are falling into place. I will share two recent events that are pointing to the promise.

Recently Pastor Juan Barrera and I baptized 20 disciples who are growing in their new found faith. It was beautiful to hear and see their professions of faith and witness their act of worship with gratitude to the Lord for saving them. Two men stood out more to me than the rest. They were Octavo and Mauricio both men are recovering alcoholics and drug abusers but now they are walking with our Lord. My heart went out to them as I felt their pain and saw their brokenness. Jesus saves! This is just one example of those who are being baptized in our coalition of Vida church across Mexico. All of our churches are baptizing new believers.

The second example of first fruits of the vision unfolding is that now we have Vida churches in various regions of the Mexican Republic and when a family moves to a new city they are being referred to and end up attending the Vida church in their new city. This to me speaks volumes that God is completing His promise of impact and growth. Though we are still a fledgling movement, I recently called a Pastoral Leadership gathering with less than a two week notice and we had Pastors coming from as far as 12 hours away. 70 leaders came together for a time of fellowship, encouragement and the challenge to stay connected to Jesus, to bear much fruit through spiritual transformation and the expansion of the kingdom by winning new souls and growing them in the faith. You can feel the joy, enthusiasm and God's Spirit all over as we gather together.

God is in the Process of completing His Promises. God is on the Move; at work using the seeds you are sowing in prayers, labor and gifts to win souls and change lives.

PLEASE PRAY:

1. Continued provision for Pastor Juan Barrera to purchase land for the church approx. 10K still needed
2. Funds to repair the Children's center in Pedernales DR. $4,500 needed.

Thank you for helping to make this possible.

We love and bless you all.
